SAK.1 Description and Expectations

A statutory acknowledgement is a formal acknowledgement from the Crown of the mana of tangata whenua in relation to a special area.

It recognises the particular cultural, spiritual, historical and traditional association of an iwi or hapū with the site, which is identified as a statutory area. In some instances, there may be more than one hapū or iwi who is recognised as having an association with a given area.

Statements of association within a statutory acknowledgement/area are set out in Treaty of Waitangi settlement legislation.

While there may be minor variations in the legislation for each settlement, the purposes of a statutory acknowledgement will generally include the following:

- Notification of resource consent applications.
- Environment court regard to statutory acknowledgement in determining whether or not iwi or hapū have an interest greater than the general public.
- Consent authorities are required to forward summaries of resource consent applications to the relevant iwi or hapū for activities within or adjacent to or impacting directly on the statutory area.
- The relevant iwi or hapū may cite a statutory acknowledgement as evidence of association with a statutory area in submissions to and proceedings before Council.
- Recording of the statutory acknowledgement in the district plan.

In accordance with Section 38 of the of the Ngāti Pūkenga Claims Settlement Act 2017:

 - (a) applies, and is limited, to an area 100 metres wide on the seaward side of, and adjoining, the line of mean high-water springs; but
 - (b) does not of itself constitute, and may not be relied upon as, evidence that Ngāti Pūkenga is an iwi whose territory abuts Whāngarei Harbour for the purposes of section 143 of the Māori Fisheries Act 2004.

Maps of the statutory areas can be found in the document Ngāti Pūkenga and The Trustees of Te Tāwharau o Ngāti Pūkenga Trust and the Crown, Deed of Settlement: Attachments: <https://www.govt.nz/dmsdocument/5539.pdf>

SAK.2.2 Statements of Association

Ngāti Pūkenga, also known as Te Tāwera, settled the Pakikaikutu block near Pārua Bay in 1838. The area is more commonly known as Tamaterau today. The land was ‘tuku whenua’ due to the killing of a Ngāti Pūkenga chief at the place.

According to tribal history, Te Tāwera were on their way north in canoes to trade for firearms. On the way one of the crew members, Te Kohupō wished to visit with his sister who had married an important chief of the area. Disembarking near Whāngarei Heads he made his way around the coast, passing through Parua Bay. Unbeknown to him, he was being stalked by a local warrior and when he took rest near a small stream he was surprised and killed at Pakikaikutu.

News of Te Kohupō’s murder soon reached Te Tāwera in the Bay of Islands. Ready and arming themselves with their recently acquired firepower they set forth heading southwards towards Whāngarei Harbour where they entered intent on ‘utu’. Arriving at Pārua Bay they spied a large contingent of people on the shore, and emissaries issued forth carrying with them terms of peace.

The canoes were drawn up on the beach and the entire retinue made their way up from Pārua Bay over to Pakikaikutu. The Whāngarei chiefs pointed out the place where Te Kohupō had met his end, rituals were enacted and in recognition of the unwarranted taking of his life, the land was given over to Te Tawera.

The coastal areas, particularly from Waiakaraka to Pārua Bay (where the canoes landed), was incredibly important to Ngāti Pūkenga, more so because of the steep nature of the Pakikaikutu block, and the challenges these presented when food needed to be grown, dwellings built, or game taken. The ‘kāpata kai’ as expressed by elders was the moana itself. There were oyster reefs at Tamaterau and Pārua that were utilized by the locals, spots where kina, scallops and mussels could be harvested. Every type of fish imaginable could be caught according to its own season in the shallows and deeper channels around the coast. When transport by water was the main mode of travel, the beaches and small coves provided safe anchorages, and canoes could ply this area taking aboard large seine nets to encircle large schools of herrings, kahawai, parore, snapper and myriad of other species.

The shallows along this coastal strip abounded in various types of pipi, a staple for the people living there, as these could be taken at almost any time of the year regardless of the weather, dried and stored for leaner times, or gathered in quantities to supply the many gatherings, mourning ceremonies or taken as gifts for other iwi and hapū. Indeed, all of the marine life mentioned and more, when presented to other tribal groups in the quantities required helped to balance the delicate inter-tribal relationships and ensure the mana of Ngāti Pūkenga was upheld and enhanced.
