

List of licensed contractors for water supply

Water Services requires contractors carrying out work on water supply assets to be approved by Council. There are two types of approved contractors: registered contractors and licensed contractors for water supply.

A registered contractor is permitted to construct or modify new water reticulation (including reticulation that will be transferred to Council ownership). They may not carry out work on live mains, make connections to live mains, install a water meter or carry out shutdowns of live water reticulation.

A licensed contractor may in addition to the above carry out work on live mains, including connections to the live reticulation.

The contractors listed have been approved via an application process that confirms that these contractors are familiar with Council's Engineering Standards, hold the necessary Health & Safety standards and have the necessary qualifications to undertake the type of work that they are approved for (either at the licensed or registered level). The presence of a contractor on this list does not constitute an endorsement or guarantee by Council of the contractor's work.
